TOURING SULLIVAN COUNTY'S MUSEUM . . . while dusting

The photo with this week's article originated with Sally Millard who had been the photographer for the Sullivan Review for many years. Looking through our sports collection, we'd not previously had this particular shot. It appears to have been taken in Dushore in the present vicinity of the tennis and ball park, with Dushore Auto Parts garage over the boy's shoulder pictured on the left. Can anyone out there please contact us with identities of those young men and the year the photo was taken.

Also, we'd like to add, photographs were frequently mounted on stiff paper board with lined adhesive to secure the picture to it. This system, for its time, was the best there was for home collectors to save photos and very often they were kept in 3-ring binders. Unfortunately, this system is not for the long term good of photos because of yellowing stemming from the adhesive. Should you have photos in your own collection that utilize these sheets, you may want to consider removing them and simply putting them into archival friendly plastic sleeves.

We've finished with summer hours at the museum. From now until next spring we will endeavor to take appointments by phoning the museum at 570-946-5020 or emailing museum@scpahistory.com. Or, stopping in on a Tuesday or Thursday from 10 to 3ish which will be by happen chance. We are dictated by health and weather, and are an all volunteer organization. We welcome your visits or research request and would ask that we all socially distance.
